Veneers

A translucent porcelain shell

Minimal preparation

A veneer generally covers only the front and top of a tooth. Veneers can be used to close spaces between teeth, lengthen small or misshapen teeth, or whiten stained or dark teeth. When teeth are chipped or beginning to wear, veneers can protect them from damage and restore their original appearance.

A veneer is a thin shell of porcelain or plastic that is bonded to a tooth to improve its color and shape.

How do you restore teeth with veneers?

It takes two or more appointments to restore teeth with veneers. During the first appointment, we shape and roughen the teeth. We then take impressions of your teeth, which we use to make precise working models of your mouth. It's on these models that we artistically craft veneers to fit the prepared teeth.

During the second appointment we clean and polish the prepared teeth. Then we use an adhesive to bond the veneers to the teeth. A harmless, high-intensity light hardens the adhesive. Once in place, veneers virtually become part of the teeth. You can use them like you would your own teeth because the bond is extremely strong. The final result is beautiful and natural looking teeth. •

Victor

This teenager walks to our office after school. It's about four miles but he's always on time. He has a great attitude, he even does his homework while he's getting numb. Dr. Wong really enjoys him and recommended him for this award. Great Job!
